"Globalization and IAPD"

It has been some time since our last newsletter and the IAPD Board has been busy with challenges and at the same time, rewarding tasks. Prof Gerald Wright has been greatly missed after many years of service to IAPD as the immediate past Secretary General. New Board members together with Dr Joseph Chan, the new Secretary General, have quickly stepped in and have assumed their roles and continue with the tasks at hand. All Board members dedicated their efforts with passion to the progress of IAPD. In this regard, I would like to thank all my colleagues for their active role within our organization.

IAPD now represents 57 nations, and although communication across boundaries has always existed within IAPD, globalization, cross cultural awareness and technology are redefining the way we communicate. IAPD has faced ongoing interest and communication with important paediatric dental organizations. More recently, Dr Joel Berg, President of the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry has shared the same interest in organizations such as IAPD and promising interactions will develop.

Presidential Message

IAPD now represents 57 nations,, globalization, cross cultural awareness and technology are redefining the way we communicate.

IAPD introduced this year a two year membership at a reduced cost of €108 Euros for individual members and €54 Euros for postgraduate students. This is an amazing deal given the benefits of this membership, including a subscription to the International Journal of Paediatric Dentistry (IJPd). I hope many of you or your colleagues take advantage of this offer to support an organization whose primary role is education and to contribute to children's dental health worldwide.

IAPD had a successful regional meeting in Russia during April 2012. This was a combined effort of the Association of Paediatric Dentists of Russia, the Moscow State University of Medicine & Dentistry and IAPD. This meeting attracted more than 270 new IAPD members in 2012.

The success of this meeting is due to the efforts of all involved, but especially Prof Marcelo Bonecker (Chair of the IAPD Education Committee), Prof Larissa Kiselnikova (Russia) and all guest lecturers, among others: Prof Anna Fuks, Prof Monty Duggal (both IAPD speakers) and Prof Luc Martens (Belgium).

IAPD is again holding a Regional Meeting in Sao Paulo, Brazil on 25-25 April 2013. This meeting is coordinated by the IAPD Education Committee, through Prof Bonecker and has attracted a variety of international speakers and sponsors. This meeting promises to be an exciting event and more information may be found through our website or <http://www.iapdmeetingbrazil.com.br/en/index.php>

I am also proud to announce that Prof Anna Fuks, one of our most valued members and a past president of this organization was awarded the 2013 Distinguished Service Award by the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD). This is the most prestigious award given by the AAPD. Prof Fuks has always been a role model to this organization with relentless dedication, motivation and hard work. She is truly deserving of this award and on behalf of the Board of Directors I congratulate her for her achievement.

It is with great pleasure that I communicate that we are only a few months away from the 24th Congress of IAPD in June this year. The local organising committee in Seoul, South Korea has been busy with preparations for this upcoming event. To date, 790 abstracts from 54 countries have already been submitted to this congress. We hope you can join us in this important event. We must congratulate the efforts and hard work of Prof Sang Ho Lee, Chair of the 24th Congress and its local organising committee.

This report would not be complete without showing my appreciation to Ms Sylvie Dutilloy, our association coordinator, whose constant dedication and hard work on behalf of IAPD do not go unnoticed.

Best wishes and see you in Seoul!

IAPD President

Congratulations to Prof Anna Fuks, a past president of IAPD, who will be awarded the 2013 AAPD Distinguished Service Award

The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (AAPD) will award Prof. Anna Fuks the recipient of the 2013 AAPD Distinguished Service Award.

Distinguished Service Award is the most prestigious award given by the AAPD. Presented only when the AAPD Board of Trustees identifies a truly worthy recipient, the award recognizes individuals who have made a major contribution, on a national or international level over an entire career, to advocacy for children, improvement of children's health or to a health profession related to children. The Miller Foundation supports this award.

A Message from the Secretary General

Dear Colleagues

When I was asked by the newsletter editor to contribute a message, I thought it was not very long ago that I wrote one. In fact it was almost a year ago. Looking back we had a very busy and encouraging year. The Regional Meeting in Moscow last April was a great success with over 300 participants. Prof. Larissa Kiselnikova and her organising committee must be congratulated for their efforts in promoting the Regional Meeting and membership of IAPD. The IAPD Symposium at the FDI Congress in Hong Kong last August was also very well attended with Prof. Bernadette Drummond as our speaker. An IAPD booth was set up to promote the IAPD Congress in Seoul. There was remarkable interest in the Seoul Congress and we ran out of promotion material before the close of the trade exhibition.

We also have an exciting few months ahead of us. Our next Regional Meeting will be in São Paulo, Brazil on 25 & 26 of April. If you are planning to attend, the deadline for registration is on 28 March 2013. National Societies who would like to host an IAPD Regional Meeting in your own country must let me know as soon as possible as the Board of Directors will be considering new applications in the Board Meeting in June 2013. Information on the hosting of Regional Meeting can be found on our website:

Report by the Honorary Editor of IJPD

The masthead of the International Journal of Paediatric Dentistry states that the journal "was formed in 1991 by the merger of the Journals of the International Association of Paediatric Dentistry and the British Society of Paediatric Dentistry. Published bi-monthly, it has a true international scope and aims to promote the highest standard of education, practice and research in

During the past year, there were more than 118,000 downloads of journal articles. There are now more than 1285 individual journal subscriptions in addition to 255 institutional and 4259 library subscriptions.

paediatric dentistry world-wide." Volume 22 was published this past year, 2012, containing six issues with 72 pages for 61 manuscripts, and two special supplemental issues. Supplement one reviewed the care of patients with Epidermolysis Bullosis, and supplement two reported the abstracts presented at the annual meeting of the British Society of Paediatric Dentistry annual scientific meeting.

Members of the Association receive hard copies of each issue. They also enjoy free on-line access to all issues since volume one published in 1991. During the past year, there were more than 118,000 downloads of journal articles. There are now more than 1285 individual journal subscriptions in addition to 255 institutional and 4259 library subscriptions. These numbers reflect the renown of the Journal world-wide.

The Journal also serves the important purpose of providing for authors a venue to publish world class papers. During 2012, there were 644 submissions from 63 countries, representing 485 scientific papers, 109 case reports, and 50 other types of papers. However, because of limited journal space, the acceptance rate this past year was only 7.6%. Our Editor-in-Chief, Professor Chris Deery had the difficult task of selecting only the best papers for publication. He was assisted by a 20 member Editorial Board and more than 720 international reviewers. They perform their task diligently so that the average time from submission of papers to final decision was only 32 days and those accepted papers likely will be published within a year.

Prospective authors should review Professor Deery's editorial in the January, 2012 issue for suggestions regarding proper preparation of papers for submission, and his editorial in the January, 2013 issue reviewing why papers are rejected.

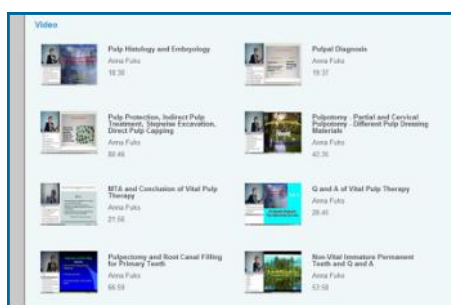

IAPD members enjoy subscription and free online access to IJPD

Association members should be proud of their Journal as it represents a significant benefit of membership in the Association.

These topics obviously were so popular that the room was bursting with people and many listeners could not find a place in the room. This picture did not change a lot later on, when restorations in primary and young permanent teeth were discussed. So, on Saturday, the pedo program was moved to the largest existing lecture hall in the building. This day was devoted to the psychology of childhood in the morning, followed by seminars to different topics in the afternoon. Finally, in the evening, while having a wonderful dinner in an old manor with live music, awards and prizes could be given to some of the successful participants.

It is already a well known tradition that every 2 years a symposium of the Austrian Association of Paediatric Dentistry is held in Salzburg. Due to the fact that in 2012 the Austrian General Dental Congress was to be held in Salzburg, too, both events were merged together. On the one hand this gave the paediatric dentists the chance to meet colleagues and friends while hearing good lectures. On the other hand it offered general dentists the chance to peek into paediatric dentistry without having to visit a separate event. This concept apparently convinced lots of

British Society of Paediatric Dentistry (BSPD)

On a political level our current challenge is to inform the Commissioning process for Paediatric Dentistry in England. This is a time of great change but we are striving to ensure that our voice is heard and that any decisions made are in the best interest of Children's oral health. This year will see the publication of a new care pathway for children.

The British Society of Paediatric Dentistry (BSPD) celebrated our 60th Anniversary in 2012 and continues to thrive with an increasing membership of nearly 600. We had a very successful and well attended Annual Scientific Conference which was held in Newcastle-upon-Tyne and attracted a total of 300 delegates, including colleagues from overseas and dental care professionals (DCP's). Speakers included Professor Jimmy Steele, author of the "Steele report", and the highly entertaining and knowledgeable Professor John Whitworth who provided a well received endodontic update. For the first time, we held a DCP day and offered a DCP prize for the best verbal presentation of an abstract.

BSPD now looks forward to hosting the IAPD 2015 conference to be held in Glasgow under the Chair of Professor Richard Welbury. An exciting scientific programme, designed by Professor Helen Rodd, is already well under development. The local organising committee look forward to welcoming you to Glasgow in two years' time.

The Declaration of the 50th Anniversary Conference of the Japanese Society of Pediatric Dentistry

The 50th Anniversary and Annual Meeting of the Japanese Society of Pediatric Dentistry (JSPD) was held on May 12-13th, 2012 in Tokyo, Japan. The main theme of the 50th annual meeting was "The future of children and the future of dentistry" hoping for a bright future of children. Totally 1900 people, 1750 JSPD members and 150 guests, participated and celebrated the 50th Anniversary of JSPD. Many special guests from around the world were invited to the Ceremony in Japan. Prof. Eduardo Alcaino President of IAPD and Dr. Halimah Awang President of PDAA gave speeches for us at the Ceremony. And we had an international symposium about the theme of "Future prospects and role of pediatric dentistry in countries with decreased carious teeth". Guest panelists were Prof. Mark Hector (University of Dundee, Past-President of IAPD), Prof. Göran Dahllöf (Kalorinska University, Sweden), Prof. Nigel M. King (University of Western Australia, Australia), Prof. Sang Ho Lee (Chosun University, Korea) and Prof. Mitsuko Inoue (Showa University, Vice President of 50th Anniversary JSPD, Japan). Then, we declared the following four aims about activities of JSPD.

Thinking about the future of children and the future of dentistry, we will develop our society activities towards the realization of four aims for next half century.

- We will demonstrate scientifically that dento-oral functions influence the quality of life in the every stage of human life and will make this knowledge public.
- We will promote a support system for children in dentistry to support them from a viewpoint of the physiological development of mind and body.
- We will build an environment where all children can enjoy the dental service with high quality.
- We will promote the cooperation with all child health professionals which is essential for accomplishment of the above aims.

The president of JSPD was changed from Prof. Yoshinobu Asada to Prof. Youichi Yamasaki (Kagoshima University) last May. The 51st Annual Meeting of JSPD is going to be held on May 23-24th, 2013 at Gifu city, Japan.

Philippine Pediatric Dental Society (PPDSI)

It has been a busy year for the Philippine Pediatric Dental Society. The main project for 2012 was focused on Continuing Education not only for the members but also for Filipino dentists based in the different parts of the archipelago. Aside from the usual quarterly seminars to update the members, the Society staged four well-received Area Conventions - in South Luzon on July 23, 2012, the Visayas on September 13-14, 2012, North Luzon on November 21, 2012 and Mindanao on January 21, 2013. During the rounds, it was also a good opportunity to include in the program the information dissemination of the Society's Fluoride Guidelines. The Fluoride Guidelines is a pet project of the Council of Past Presidents which lasted for 16 months and presented the Society's recommendations when it came to the different vehicles and materials containing fluoride. Information from the Guidelines was also included in our community outreaches in numerous day care centers and preschools, children who were participating in the Special Olympics, diabetic patients of the Philippine General Hospital, families of Overseas Filipino Workers and orphans of the Our Lady of Caysasay Orphanage in Batangas province. Lastly, the Society is also providing the manpower for a research project that is sponsored by the FDI and the Philippine Dental Association. 2012 was truly a dynamic year for the Philippine Pediatric Dental Society.

Dr. Maritess Oliveros-Villarico
President

Philippine Pediatric Dental Society

As the incoming president of our society, I would like to share with you a project of one of our members under the PPDSI and our mother organization, the Philippine Dental Association. This project has been in existence since 2008 and its goal is to improve the oral health of Filipino children focusing on communities who are less privileged and under served.

Respectfully Yours,
Fenella Isabel G. Galvan, DMD
PPDSI, President Elect 2013-2015

BATANG MAY 'K' / LIVE.LEARN.LAUGH / PPDSI

Batang May 'K' (BMK), a project of the Philippine Dental Association (PDA), is part of the global Live.Learn.Laugh (LLL) program of the FDI World Dental Federation and Unilever International.

The Philippine Pediatric Dental Society (PPDSI) is proud to have initiated, and to continue to support, this project. BMK started off in 2007 when the FDI approved the proposal for this public health program to be piloted in Batangas Province. The program aims to institutionalize preventive health interventions, such as handwashing and toothbrushing, and proper diet as regular activities in the day care setting. These are meant to address health problems that beset most Filipino children. BMK continues to benefit approximately 108 day care centers and 2,900 day care pupils every year.

LLL Phase 2 brings an additional ten municipalities and 8,000 children to the program. The sustainability of BMK lies in giving the ownership of the program to the local leaders, and keeping the implementation simple and affordable. This ensures that even when the formal LLL program ends, the healthy habits can continue with the children.

Another new aspect of LLL Phase 2 is the assessment and evaluation side of the program. Here an assessment team, composed of PPDSI members, voluntarily participate in systemized data-gathering to support the objectives of BMK. The research will review the effects on the caries levels of the children and will also study the behavioral changes with the children and their parents.

Batang May 'K' relies on volunteer work provided by PPDSI members, local civic organizations, and government employees. The team is headed by project director, Dr. Noel Vallesteros.

Taiwan Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (TAPD)

The Taiwan Academy of Pediatric Dentistry (TAPD) is the only organization representing the specialty of Pediatric Dentistry in Taiwan. Established in 1992, the members of TAPD has increased from 90 to 460 during the past twenty years. Certified pediatric dentists received training in Taiwan and in foreign countries, mainly in United States and Japan.

Each year, TAPD holds three to five continue education conferences to provide updated academic information in various fields. In 2012, TAPD welcomed the world-renowned Prof. Anna Fuks from Israel, to give lectures at APDC and our annual meeting on the trend of pulp therapies for primary and young permanent teeth. TAPD also invited Dr. Takashi Nezu, a reputable orthodontist from Japan, to talk about the early treatment and muscular functional therapy from the view-point of an orthodontist. In addition to the international speakers, TAPD also had several Taiwanese leading pediatric dentists discussing the issues of health insurances, the theory and clinic experience of behavior management, and the development of stem cells. Other invited lectures included root canal therapy for traumatized permanent teeth by an endodontist, and a judge to discuss medical disputes and legal issues.

TAPD has been working with the Government of Taiwan to fight against the high caries rate. Weekly fluoride rinse programs at elementary schools are funded by the government budget and National Health Insurance covers fluoride treatment for children under 5-years-old. The President of TAPD, Dr. Jenjuhng Joseph Tsai, had been advocating the establishment of a "Children's Oral Health Day", and in 2012, the Bureau of Health Promotion and TAPD officially set the Wednesday of the October's "National Oral Health Week" the "National Children's Oral Health Day". Besides USA, Taiwan is currently the only country in the world to have an official national month/day for children's dental health.

Venezuelan Society of Paediatric Dentistry (SVOP)

The Venezuelan Society of Paediatric Dentistry (Sociedad Venezolana de Odontopediatría SVOP) has worked in 2012 towards bringing the most recent scientific information and clinical techniques in paediatric dentistry to colleagues in our country. Considering the difficulties we encounter for travelling abroad in order to assist to international congresses, we focused on celebrating seminars and short courses with national as well as international speakers.

Focusing on primary prevention of oral diseases we had the privilege of counting with Dr. Rita Villena from Peru, for a short course in caries risk assessment and dentistry for babies.

We organized events nationwide, including a course in Maracaibo where Dr. Luis Karakowsky from Mexico shared newest techniques in restorative dentistry.

Our main event was held in Caracas, September 2012, when we celebrated the VII National Congress of Paediatric Dentistry. It was a complete success thanks to great participation of all our members and to effort made by the Organizing Committee and the fabulous speakers that shared their knowledge with us. Topics such as Dental Stem Cells and Advances in Paediatric Dentistry were discussed by Dr. Marc

Saadia from México. Dr. Heriberto Vera from México who spoke about ART. We were very proud to count with Dr. Anna Fuks from Israel who lectured on Endodontic Treatment for Children and with Dr. Margherita Fontana, from USA, with her conference about New Views On Caries Diagnosis and Treatment.
